FEDERAL RESERVE press release

Release Date: December 12, 2007

For immediate release

Today, the Bank of Canada, the Bank of England, the European Central Bank, the Federal Reserve, and the Swiss National Bank are announcing measures designed to address elevated pressures in short-term funding markets.

Federal Reserve Actions

Actions taken by the Federal Reserve include the establishment of a temporary Term Auction Facility (approved by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System) and the establishment of foreign exchange swap lines with the European Central Bank and the Swiss National Bank (approved by the Federal Open Market Committee).

Under the Term Auction Facility (TAF) program, the Federal Reserve will auction term funds to depository institutions against the wide variety of collateral that can be used to secure loans at the discount window. All depository institutions that are judged to be in generally sound financial condition by their local Reserve Bank and that are eligible to borrow under the primary credit discount window program will be eligible to participate in TAF auctions. All advances must be fully collateralized. By allowing the Federal Reserve to inject term funds through a broader range of counterparties and against a broader range of collateral than open market operations, this facility could help promote the efficient dissemination of liquidity when the unsecured interbank markets are under stress.

Each TAF auction will be for a fixed amount, with the rate determined by the auction process (subject to a minimum bid rate). The first TAF auction of $20 billion is scheduled for Monday, December 17, with settlement on Thursday, December 20; this auction will provide 28-day term funds, maturing Thursday, January 17, 2008. The second auction of up to $20 billion is scheduled for Thursday, December 20, with settlement on Thursday, December 27; this auction will provide 35-day funds, maturing Thursday, January 31, 2008. The third and fourth auctions will be held on January 14 and 28, with settlement on the following Thursdays. The amounts of those auctions will be determined in January. The Federal Reserve may conduct additional auctions in subsequent months, depending in part on evolving market conditions.

Depositories will submit bids through their local Reserve Banks. The minimum bid rate for the auctions will be established at the overnight indexed swap (OIS) rate corresponding to the maturity of the credit being auctioned. The OIS rate is a measure of market participants' expected average federal funds rate over the relevant term. The minimum rate for the December 17 auction along with other auction details will be announced on Friday, December 14. Noncompetitive tenders may be accepted beginning with the third auction. The results of the first auction will be announced at 10 a.m. Eastern Time on December 19. The schedule for releasing the results of later auctions will be determined subsequently. Detailed terms of the auction and summary auction results will be available at <http://www.federalreserve.gov/monetarypolicy/taf.htm>.

Experience gained under this temporary program will be helpful in assessing the potential usefulness of augmenting the Federal Reserve's current monetary policy tools--open market operations and the primary credit facility--with a permanent facility for auctioning term discount window credit. The Board anticipates that it would seek public comment on any proposal for a permanent term auction facility.

The Federal Open Market Committee has authorized temporary reciprocal currency arrangements (swap lines) with the European Central Bank (ECB) and the Swiss National Bank (SNB). These arrangements will provide dollars in amounts of up to $20 billion and $4 billion to the ECB and the SNB, respectively, for use in their jurisdictions. The FOMC approved these swap lines for a period of up to six months.

FEDERAL RESERVE press release

Release Date: May 2, 2008

For immediate release

Central banks have continued to work together and to consult regularly on liquidity conditions in financial markets. In view of the persistent liquidity pressures in some term funding markets, the European Central Bank, the Federal Reserve, and the Swiss National Bank are announcing an expansion of their liquidity measures.

Federal Reserve Actions

The Federal Reserve announced today an increase in the amounts auctioned to eligible depository institutions under its biweekly Term Auction Facility (TAF) from $50 billion to $75 billion, beginning with the auction on May 5. This increase will bring the amounts outstanding under the TAF to $150 billion.

In conjunction with the increase in the size of the TAF, the Federal Open Market Committee has authorized further increases in its existing temporary reciprocal currency arrangements with the European Central Bank (ECB) and the Swiss National Bank (SNB). These arrangements will now provide dollars in amounts of up to $50 billion and $12 billion to the ECB and the SNB, respectively, representing increases of $20 billion and $6 billion. The FOMC extended the term of these reciprocal currency arrangements through January 30, 2009.

In addition, the Federal Open Market Committee authorized an expansion of the collateral that can be pledged in the Federal Reserve's Schedule 2 Term Securities Lending Facility (TSLF) auctions. Primary dealers may now pledge AAA/Aaa-rated asset-backed securities, in addition to already eligible residential- and commercial-mortgage-backed securities and agency collateralized mortgage obligations, beginning with the Schedule 2 TSLF auction to be announced on May 7, 2008, and to settle on May 9, 2008. The wider pool of collateral should promote improved financing conditions in a broader range of financial markets. Treasury securities, agency securities, and agency mortgage-backed securities continue to be eligible as collateral in Schedule 1 TSLF auctions.

A Participant may submit no more than two Bids at any Auction, the aggregate amount of which may not exceed the Maximum Bid Amount. In addition, the sum of (i) the aggregate Bid amount submitted by a Participant in an Auction and (ii) the principal amount of all term Advances outstanding which are scheduled to mature after the Settlement Date shall not exceed 50% of the Collateral Value of the assets pledged by such Participant. Multiple Bids should be separately identified and submitted on the same phone call to the Local Reserve Bank.

A Bid shall specify:

- the Participant's name and ABA number
- Authorized Submitter(s) Name(s) and contact number(s)
- the requested amount of each Bid
- the interest rate (expressed as an annual rate to three decimal points for each Bid)

All Bids that are submitted after the Opening Time and before the Closing Time and meet all other terms of the Announcement and these Terms shall be considered submitted. The Local Reserve Banks reserve all rights to determine whether a Bid was timely submitted and meets all other applicable conditions, including the Terms, and such determinations by Local Reserve Banks are final when made.

c. Determination of Auction Awards

After the Closing Time, the Local Reserve Banks will deliver submitted Bids to the Auction Agent. The Auction Agent shall review all such Bids and accept Bids at the highest interest rate through successively lower rates. The aggregate amount of all accepted Bids shall not exceed the lesser of (i) the Offering Amount, and (ii) the aggregate amount of all Bids accepted at or above the Minimum Bid Rate. When necessary, Bids at the lowest accepted interest rate will be prorated. Auction awards will be rounded according to the rounding convention specified in the Announcement.

This is a single-price auction; all Participants whose Bids have been accepted will be awarded Advances under the Term Auction Facility at the same interest rate, which shall be the lowest interest rate at which Bids were accepted, regardless of the rates they bid.

d. Rules for a Foreign Bank with Multiple U.S. Branches and/or Agencies

With respect to a foreign bank with multiple U.S. branches and agencies which qualify as Participants in an Auction, the following terms apply in each Auction:

- (i) each such branch or agency may submit a maximum of two Bids, and the sum of (x) the aggregate Bid amount and (y) the principal amount of all term Advances outstanding to such branch or agency which are scheduled to mature after the Settlement Date, shall not exceed 50% of the Collateral Value of the assets pledged thereby; and
- (ii) a foreign bank, as a whole, may not submit more than two interest rates and the aggregate amount of all Bids submitted by all branches and agencies of a foreign bank may not exceed the Maximum Bid Amount.

e. Notification of Auction Awards and Publication

The Auction Agent will notify the Local Reserve Banks of the Auction results. The Local Reserve Banks will, in turn, notify those Participants who have been awarded Advances in the Auction between 10:00 a.m. and Noon New York time on the Notification Date of the amount of Advance awarded and the applicable interest rate. In addition, summary statistics on the Auction results will be published on the Board's website on the Notification Date.

A Participant shall have until 3:00 p.m. New York time to inform the Local Reserve Bank of any error. If a Participant does not inform its Local Reserve Bank of any error by that time, neither the Auction Agent nor the Local Reserve Bank shall have any obligation to review or correct such error and, notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein, shall not be liable for such error, and the results will be considered final at such time.

f. Settlement

An Advance made in an Auction to a Participant will be credited by the Local Reserve Bank to the Participant's Account on the Settlement Date.

g. No Prepayment of Auction Advances

No Participant may elect to prepay an Advance awarded in an Auction before the Stated Maturity Date.

h. Acceleration of Auction Advances

If a Participant ceases to qualify for Primary Credit while any Advance extended to the Participant under the Term Auction Facility is outstanding, the Local Reserve Bank may, at its sole discretion, accelerate the repayment of such Advance to such Participant, which Advance is then immediately due and payable.

II. Miscellaneous

a. Application of OC-10

Credit extended under the Term Auction Facility is an "Advance" as such term is defined in OC-10. All Advances extended under the Term Auction Facility shall be governed by OC-10 (including, without limitation, provisions relating to interest, the addition or substitution of Collateral, repayment of Advances and remedies upon the occurrence of an Event of Default) and by the Terms.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, to the extent there is any inconsistency or conflict between the Terms and OC-10, the Terms shall control with respect to the Advances extended under the Term Auction Facility.

b. Limitation on Liability

Neither the Auction Agent nor any Local Reserve Bank is responsible for, among other things, technical or any other failures that prevent a Participant from receiving an Announcement, participating in an Auction, making any communication with respect to a Bid or receiving Auction results. Neither the Auction Agent nor any Local Reserve Bank is responsible for any delays, errors or omissions, including any errors in determining the Auction results, except for its delays, errors or omissions that constitute gross negligence. Neither the Auction Agent nor any Local Reserve Bank shall be liable for any lost profit, consequential, incidental, exemplary, special or punitive damages in connection with or in any way related to any Advance extended under the Term Auction Facility. In performing Auction functions, the Auction Agent acts on behalf of the Local Reserve Banks only, and the Auction Agent shall not have liability to any Local Reserve Bank except for direct damages resulting from delays, errors or omissions that constitute gross negligence.

c. Governing Law

Term Auction Facility Questions and Answers

I. What is the Term Auction Facility (“TAF”)? Why are we introducing the TAF and what are some of its terms?

In view of the pressures evident in short-term funding markets, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (the “Board”) has approved the establishment of a temporary Term Auction Facility (“TAF”) program in which the Federal Reserve will auction term funds to depository institutions.

The TAF is a credit facility that allows a depository institution to place a bid for an advance from its local Federal Reserve Bank at an interest rate that is determined as the result of an auction. By allowing the Federal Reserve to inject term funds through a broader range of counterparties and against a broader range of collateral than open market operations, this facility could help ensure that liquidity provisions can be disseminated efficiently even when the unsecured interbank markets are under stress.

Summary of TAF Parameters

Many of the criteria and parameters for the TAF are discussed in detail below. In short, the TAF will auction term funds of approximately one-month maturity. All depository institutions that are judged to be in sound financial condition by their local Reserve Bank and that are eligible to borrow at the discount window are also eligible to participate in TAF auctions. All TAF credit must be fully collateralized. Depositories may pledge the broad range of collateral that is accepted for other Federal Reserve lending programs to secure TAF credit. The same collateral values and margins applicable for other Federal Reserve lending programs will also apply for the TAF. Other key parameters of the TAF are listed in Table 1 below.

II. Terms and Conditions for Term Auction Facility

See the Terms and Conditions for Term Auction Facility, as amended and supplemented from time to time (the “Terms and Conditions”) at www.federalreserve.gov/monetarypolicy/taf.htm .

III. Eligibility

What firms may bid for TAF Advances?

A depository institution (“DI”) or a branch or an agency of a foreign bank which, at the time the Bid is made:

- (i) has executed the Letter of Agreement to OC-10 and all other related documents in form and substance satisfactory to its Local Reserve Bank, which documents are on file with its Local Reserve Bank at the time a Bid is made;

- (ii) is eligible for Primary Credit; and
- (iii) has pledged assets to its Local Reserve Bank to secure any Indebtedness under OC-10.

Such DI or branch or agency of a foreign bank which submits a Bid for TAF Advances is a “Participant”.

How much TAF credit may Participants bid for at auction?

See Section I.b. in the Terms and Conditions. For foreign banks with multiple U.S. branches and/or agencies, see Section I.d. in the Terms and Conditions.

The offering amount and the Maximum Bid Amount are specified in the Announcement for each Auction. At present, the Maximum Bid Amount that may be submitted by a Participant shall not exceed 10% of the Offering Amount. Since May 2008, the offering amount has been $75 billion.

Will each branch or agency of a foreign bank be treated as a separate Participant?

Each U.S. branch or agency of a foreign bank that is eligible to participate in the Auction can submit Bids as a separate Participant to its Local Reserve Bank. However, a foreign bank that has multiple branches and/or agencies is subject to the single bidder rules set forth in Section I.d. in the Terms and Conditions. Awards are booked by the Local Reserve Banks to the branches or agencies in their respective districts.

IV. Bidding Process

How does a Participant submit a Bid to the TAF?

A Participant that wishes to submit a Bid at TAF Auctions should call its Local Reserve Bank's normal toll-free discount window telephone hotline during the period between the Opening Time and Closing Time on the Bid Submission Date as stated in the Announcement for each Auction. The caller should be prepared to specify the following:

- the Participant's name and ABA number
- Authorized Submitter(s)¹ Name(s) and contact number(s)
- the requested amount of each Bid
- the interest rate (expressed as an annual rate to three decimal points for each Bid)

If a Participant wishes to submit two Bids, it must identify and submit both Bids on the same phone call to the Local Reserve Bank.

The Reserve Banks' toll-free discount window telephone hotline numbers can be found on <http://www.frbdiscountwindow.org/map.cfm?hdrID=23&dtIID>

To be considered submitted, all Bids should meet all of the terms in the Announcement as well as the Terms and Conditions.

¹ As defined in the Terms and Conditions, an "Authorized Submitter" is one or more individuals at a Participant authorized under OC-10 to make a borrowing request on behalf of and commit the Participant to the terms of an Advance under OC-10 with its Local Reserve Bank.

Does the person who submits a Bid on behalf of a Participant need to be authorized to borrow on behalf of the Participant?

Yes. The individual(s) who submit a Bid on behalf of a Participant should be the one(s) authorized to make a borrowing request on behalf of and commit the Participant to the terms of an Advance under OC-10 with its Local Reserve Bank (the “Authorized Submitter”). Those Participants that require two members of their own staff to request an Advance under OC-10 would be expected to observe the same standard for submissions of Bids in the TAF.

During what hours can Participants bid?

Bidding times and the Bid Submission Date will be specified in the Announcement for each Auction. Participants are advised to submit their Bids as early in the bidding window as is possible, to ensure that they get through to their Local Reserve Bank’s discount window telephone hotline between the Opening Time and Closing Time.

At present, the Opening Time and Closing Time during which a Participant may submit Bids would be between 11:00 am and 1:00 pm Eastern time (“ET”), respectively.

What should an Authorized Submitter do if he/she cannot get through the discount window hotline before the Closing Time for submission of Bids?

If phone lines are congested as the Closing Time for Bid submission approaches, an Authorized Submitter can leave a message on the Reserve Bank’s discount window telephone hotline voicemail identifying clearly his/her/their name(s), the name of the institution on whose behalf (s)he/they is/are calling, his/her/their contact phone number and the complete Bid information. After leaving such voice message, the Authorized Submitter(s) should continue calling the discount window telephone hotline until successfully reaching a Local Reserve Bank’s discount window staff. Note that the burden is on the Participant to try to reach and submit a Bid in a live phone call with a Local Reserve Bank discount window staff. Bids left on a voice mail will not be deemed submitted unless confirmed in a telephone call with a Reserve Bank Discount Window staff member. The voicemail with complete and accurate Bid information will be used by the discount window staff as evidence that a Participant made a good faith effort in trying to submit a Bid by telephone before the Closing Time.

Will Bids be accepted by email or voice mail?

Other than as set forth above, Bids left on any voicemail will not be deemed submitted and no Bids sent by email will be processed.

Can a Participant call to change or cancel a Bid before the Closing Time? Or at any time before the Auction results are determined?

Once submitted, Participants may not cancel Bids.

As Reserve Bank discount window staff records a Bid, the staff member will validate the Bid information on the phone call on a recorded phonenumber with the Participant. Where Participants require two Authorized Submitters to request a discount window loan under OC-10, the Reserve Bank discount window staff will need to speak with two Authorized Submitters to complete the Bid submission/verification process.

V. Auction Process

When will Auctions be announced on the Auction Announcement Date?

The Board will announce an Auction and issue the respective Announcement at approximately 10:00 a.m. ET on the Auction Announcement Date.

How will the TAF Auctions be conducted?

In an Announcement of an Auction, the Federal Reserve will announce, among other things: the Offering Amount of TAF Advances to be auctioned, the term of the Advance (normally 28 days, though holiday scheduling may affect the term of an Advance), a Minimum Bid Rate, Minimum Bid Amount, Maximum Bid Amount (per institution), and other Auction parameters. The Announcement also will specify information regarding the Auction cycle, including the Bid Submission Date and time period (Opening Time and Closing Time) when Bids may be submitted.

Each Participant will be able to submit no more than two Bids to its Local Reserve Bank.

After the Closing Time, the Federal Reserve will allocate TAF Advances using a single-price auction format. Federal Reserve staff will order Bids from the highest to lowest rate. Bids will be accepted starting with the highest rate submitted, down to successively lower rates, until the Offering Amount of TAF Advance for the Auction has been allocated or until the Minimum Bid Rate is reached (whichever occurs first). The lowest accepted interest rate is the “stop-out rate.” Bids at interest rates above the stop-out rate will be allocated the full amount of TAF Advance bid for. Bids at the stop-out rate may be prorated if allocating the full amount requested would cause the total amount allocated in the Auction to exceed the Offering Amount. All Participants awarded Bids will pay the stop-out rate, regardless of the interest rates at which they bid.

How will partial awards at the stop-out rate be determined?

If the aggregate Bid amount at or above the stop-out rate exceeds the Offering Amount, the following proration will be applied to Bids submitted at the stop-out rate:

1. The amount of all Bids above the stop-out rate will be subtracted from the Offering Amount to yield a “Remaining Offering Amount”. The Remaining Offering Amount will then be divided by the aggregate amount of Bids at the stop-out rate. That fraction will be rounded to two decimal places using a two-sided rounding convention (the “Proration Percentage”). (E.g. if the fraction at the stop-out rate required to “fill” the Auction is 5.177355892 percent, the Proration Percentage will be 5.18 percent.)

2. Each Bid at the stop-out rate will be multiplied by the Proration Percentage. The product will be rounded to conform with the minimum award increment as stated in the Announcement. Awards at the stop-out rate that would fall below the minimum award amount will be rounded up to that amount. Other awards will be rounded, in accordance with a two-sided rounding convention, to the nearest minimum award increment as stated in the Announcement. (E.g. If the Bid is $10 million, the minimum award amount stated in the Announcement is $10,000, and the Proration Percentage is 0.01%, the award will be rounded up to $10,000 (rather than 0.01% of $10 million which is $1,000). If the Bid is $103 million, the minimum award increment is $10,000 and the Proration Percentage is 0.01%, the award will be $10,000 (rather than 0.01% of $103 million which is $10,300)).

Note that this rounding process could cause the total amount awarded in an Auction to deviate from the Offering Amount.

VI. Notification and Award Process

Will Participants be notified of winning Bids?

Yes. See below.

How will Participants with winning Bids be notified?

Reserve Bank discount window staff will contact Participants who have been awarded TAF Advances on the Notification Date following the announcement of Auction results by the Board and before approximately Noon ET. If a Participant has not been contacted by a Reserve Bank discount window staff during this interval and it feels its Bid should have resulted in an award, it should contact its Reserve Bank discount window staff immediately but before 3:00 p.m. ET on the Notification Date.

The Board will announce Auction results at approximately 10:00 am ET on the Notification Date. The Board also will publish summary statistics of the Auction results on its website.

Will the Federal Reserve release information about individual Bids or Participants?

The data on Bids of individual Participants or of Participants will not be made public, except as required by law.

What will be announced about the winning Bids? How can this inform me whether or not my Bid was accepted?

The Auction award announcement will specify the stop-out rate (i.e. the lowest rate at which Bids were submitted that was accepted and the rate at which all Advances will be made) and the Proration Percentage of Bids at the stop-out rate.

The Auction results also will report, among other things, the aggregate amount of Bids submitted, the aggregate amount of the TAF award and the number of Bids submitted.

Will Participants be notified of losing Bids?

No. Participants with losing Bids will not be contacted by the Reserve Banks. Participants that submitted losing Bids at rates below the stop-out rate should be able to determine that they will not receive awards from the Auction award announcement which reflects a stop-out rate above the rates of their Bids.

What should a Participant do if it believes its Bid result is incorrect?

If a Participant believes its Bid result is incorrect, it should contact its local Reserve Bank discount window staff immediately but before 3:00 p.m. ET on the Notification Date.

When will the TAF Advance be posted to winning Participants' accounts?

Normally, the Advance will be posted by the close of Fedwire (usually 6:30 p.m. ET) on the Settlement Date day specified in the Announcement.

Can a winning Participant refuse to accept the award?

No, once submitted, a Bid constitutes a commitment to accept funds awarded under the TAF.

Can a Reserve Bank refuse to credit a Participant its award?

As with other extensions of credit by Reserve Banks, TAF funds must be collateralized to the satisfaction of the Reserve Bank, and a Reserve Bank will not post the award to a Participant's account if the amount of collateral pledged by the Participant is insufficient to cover its outstanding Indebtedness to the Reserve Bank under OC-10. See Section VII (Collateral and Collateralization) below.

How will awarded TAF Advances be reported on the Reserve Banks' balance sheets?

The Federal Reserve is required by statute to publish the consolidated and individual balance sheets of the Reserve Banks. Information on TAF credit outstanding will be recorded on the Federal Reserve's H 4.1 statistical release, which is published Thursday's around 4:30 p.m. ET. A version of the release is provided below. As highlighted in yellow, TAF credit will be reported as a separate item that is distinct from other types of loans at both aggregate and district levels.

VII. Collateral and Collateralization

What kind of collateral is acceptable for the TAF?

The same collateral that is eligible to be pledged by a DI as security for discount window loans is acceptable for the TAF. Advances under the TAF to a Participant will be collateralized by the same pool of collateral as its borrowings from the discount window primary or seasonal credit programs. See Discount Window and PSR Collateral Margins Table at <http://www.frbdiscountwindow.org/discountmargins.cfm?hdrID=21&dtlID=83>.

What is the reason for the requirement to hold additional collateral beyond that necessary to secure TAF credit² at the time the Bids are submitted?

Collateral pledged to secure TAF credit will be assigned the same valuations and haircuts that apply for collateral pledged at the discount window. The requirement that institutions maintain collateral beyond that necessary to secure TAF credit is designed to ensure that DIs retain some capacity to borrow under the primary credit facility to meet any unexpected overnight funding needs. This requirement is checked on the day Bids are submitted and verified. Collateral applied to existing TAF Advance or other discount window loans that will mature on or before the day the new TAF Advance will settle is considered "available;" collateral applied against existing term loans that will mature after new TAF Advance settles is not "available." The additional collateral requirement applies only on the Bid Submission Date; it is not monitored over the term of a TAF Advance. During the term a TAF Advance is "on the books" of a Reserve Bank, the margined value of available collateral may fall and the amount of overnight or other term primary credit loans that a DI may obtain may be less than that on the Bid Submission Date.

What happens if the value of a Participant's available collateral drops below the amount it has won in the Auction before Settlement Date?

The value of each winning Participant's available collateral must be large enough to cover the TAF Advance when the advance is booked on the Settlement Date. If the margined value of a winning Participant's available collateral were to fall below the amount of TAF Advance awarded to it in the Auction at any time before, on, or after, Settlement Date and before Maturity Date, the Participant would need to pledge additional collateral to cover the shortfall or the Reserve Bank may exercise its remedial rights under OC-10. (The same remedial actions available for other discount window loans would be applicable to a TAF Advance).

In the event the full amount of TAF Advance is not posted to a winning Participant's account, the amount by which the TAF Advance would be reduced would not be ² On the Bid Submission Date, the sum of (i) the aggregate Bid amount submitted by a Participant in an Auction and (ii) the principal amount of all term Advances outstanding which are scheduled to mature after the Settlement Date is not to exceed 50% of the Collateral Value of the assets pledged by such Participant.

reallocated to other Participants and the affected Participant would not be eligible to receive the balance of that TAF award on a subsequent day.

Will Reserve Banks undertake greater-than-usual measures, such as more frequent revaluations or more intensive monitoring, to ensure that the value of collateral for TAF Advances remains adequate?

No, normal procedures for the evaluation and monitoring of collateral for discount window loans will be used.

VIII. Non-Collateral Terms

Can a Participant prepay the TAF Advance?

Prepayment of TAF Advances is not permitted.

Is there any restriction on use of funds a Participant obtains from the TAF?

No.

Does a DI need to submit any additional agreements or forms (in addition to OC-10 and related documents) to participate in the TAF program?

No. A DI must have executed and delivered to its Local Reserve Bank OC-10 and related documents. By submitting a Bid, a DI agrees to be bound by the terms and conditions of the Auction Announcement, Regulation A, the Terms and Conditions and OC-10. No additional agreements or forms are necessary.

IX. Miscellaneous

Where on the Call Report would a DI report term auctioned funds?

TAF Advances are loans from Federal Reserve Banks, and are reported with other such liabilities—for example, on FFIEC 031 (September 2007), TAF loans would be included in Schedule RC, item 16, “Other borrowed money,” and in Schedule RC-M, item 5.b, “Other borrowings.”

Noncompetitive Bids

Noncompetitive Bids may be considered as determined appropriate by the Chairman of the Board of Governors. In the event noncompetitive Bids are permitted, information and procedures for noncompetitive bidding will be announced prior to the date noncompetitive Bids may be submitted in an Auction.
