

ROBERT E. HALL

Robert and Carole McNeil Senior Fellow

Expertise: Capital formation, the stock market, monetary policy, inflation, taxation, unemployment

In addition to his named fellowship at Hoover, Robert Hall holds the Robert and Carole McNeil Professorship in the Department of Economics at Stanford University. He is an active proponent of the flat tax and, with Hoover fellow Alvin Rabushka, wrote The Flat Tax (1985 and 1995), which led to the pair being recognized by Money magazine for their contributions to financial innovation. He is also coauthor, with Marc Lieberman, of Economics: Principles and Applications (2002). He recently published Digital Dealing (2001), a book about the revolution in electronic markets. The holder of a Ph.D. in economics from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, he is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and the Econometric Society.
