

ROBERT J. MYERS

Research Fellow

Expertise: U.S. foreign policy,
Southeast Asian politics

As a member of the Central Intelligence Agency from 1949 to 1965, Robert Myers served in Japan, Taiwan, Korea, Indonesia, and Cambodia. When he left the agency, he was awarded the Intelligence Medal. The holder of a Ph.D. in international relations from the University of Chicago, he cofounded the Washingtonian magazine in 1965 and was publisher of the New Republic from 1968 to 1979. From 1980 to 1994, he was president of the Carnegie Council on Ethnicity and International Affairs. He is the author of several books on foreign policy including U.S. Foreign Policy in the 21st Century: The Relevance of Realism (1999) and Korea in the Cross Currents: A Century of Struggle and the Crisis of Reunification (2001). His current book project is Traditional Virtues and Values in American Foreign Policy: The Dilemma of Intervention.