

HENRY S. ROWEN

Senior Fellow

Expertise: International security, economic development, Asian economics and politics, U.S. institutions and economic performance

In addition to his Hoover appointment, Henry Rowen is a professor emeritus of public policy and management at Stanford University's Graduate School of Business and a member of Stanford's Asia Pacific Research Center. The holder of an M. Phil. in economics from Oxford University, he served as assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs from 1989 to 1991 and as chairman of the National Intelligence Council from 1981 to 1983. He was president of the RAND Corporation from 1967 to 1972. He is currently a member of the U.S. Defense Policy Advisory Committee. Among his most recent publications are Defense Conversion, Economic Reform, and the Outlook for the Russian and Ukrainian Economies (1994), which he coedited with Hoover fellow Charles Wolf and Jeanne Zlotnick; Behind East Asian Growth: The Political and Social Foundations of Prosperity (1998); and The Silicon Valley Edge: A Habitat For Innovation and Entrepreneurship (2000).