

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

Does Political Correctness Pose a Threat to the Military?

1. Have past militaries from the Greeks to the present been inclusive of gays and women—and without much controversy?
2. Do high-tech, cyber, and postmodern warfare make the physical requirements of soldiers far less important?
3. In historical terms, does a diverse or homogenous military prove more efficacious on the battlefield?
4. Have militaries been able to enact needed social reform more easily and efficiently than civilian political institutions?
