Index

Afghanistan, 7; CIA paramilitary operations in, 127–28; militias in, 18
Along the Domestic-Foreign Frontier (Rosenau), 3
American intelligence, analysis and, 68–69; armed groups’ implications for, 36–39; on bin Laden, xviii, 128; capabilities, trade-offs of, 155–56; career interest in, 160; centralization shortcomings of, 63; challenges for, xiv, 144; on China, 105; collection capabilities of, 139–40; commercial technologies for, 143–44; complexity of, 150–51; congressional oversight of, 130, 164; demand for, 97; denial and deception of, 152–53; effectiveness of, 132; elements of, 158–67; focus of, 158–59; force modification by, 92; funding of, 106; higher-level issues and challenges to, 161–72; incentives for development of, 164; innovation of, 173; intelligence-sharing advantages for, 171; internal management of, 163–65; on Iraq WMD program, 152; against Islamic extremism, xvii–xviii; management issues concerning, 159, 164–65; media sources in, 126–27; military reliance on, 97; modernization of, 161, 163–64; oversight of, 130, 158; overstaffing of, 132; personnel challenges to, 160; policy implications for, 51; political impact on, 157; potential for misinterpretation of, 152; priorities, needs and requirements of, 162–63; production of, 132; on al Qaeda,
American intelligence (continued)
128; quality from agents of, 120–21; rate of change challenge to, 161; technology impact on, 142–45, 146;
transparency of, 172–73
American intelligence agent recruiting, agent promotion in, 119; challenges of, 119–20; CIA success with, 103–5, 120–21, 126; for counterterrorism, 92, 122; diplomatic cover for, 118; Directorate of Operations practices of, 117; endemic problems with, 119; under Goss, 121–22; on Iraq, 120;
methods of, 122; in al Qaeda, 123; quality of, 123n7;
recruiting efforts of, 116–19; recruitment myth of, xviii;
reform of, 121n6; science and technology in, 139–40, 145–46, 155–72; sharing and collaboration issues of, 154;
shortcomings of, 121; standards of, 122; structural weaknesses in, 161; susceptibility of, 143; systems costs of, 157; targets of, 116–17; technical sources of, 142; under Tenet, 121–22; trade-offs between collection and analysis in, 171; tradition of, 44–50; transparency implications for, 143–45. See also American intelligence;
American intelligence community; CIA; DCI; DNI; HUMINT; NIE
American intelligence community, analyst’s advantage to, 59; armed groups’ impact on, 30–36; barriers for relations of U.S. industry with, 167; British v. U.S. intelligence system, 58n22; Clinton presidency and, 110; cold war threats to, 74–76; collaboration with industry and academia of, 170; Congress oversight of, 105; culture’s influence on, 35–36; current threats to, 74–78; effectiveness of, 78; external relations with U.S. industry of, 165–71; failures and deficiencies of, 109–11; foreign and domestic divides between, 75–76; goal of, 54–55, 92; government failures of, 91; information specialists in, 52; innovation of, 160–61, 166, 174; integration across, 99; media contrasted to, 52; need for integration of, 77–78; 9/11, before, 68–70; 9/11, changes since, 98–99; operation effectiveness of, xviii; opportunities for, 30–36, 168; organization of, 69–70, 156; personnel effectiveness of, 93; personnel requirements for, 158; policy-making and, 53–54; under Reagan presidency, 137; recruitment myth of, xviii; reforms to management and organization of, xix–xx; resistance to change of, 128; Soviet Union impact on, 74–76; technology implementation challenges of, 166; technology pressure on, 166
American intelligence operations, diplomatic cover for, 118–19
American intelligence reform, to agent recruiting, 121n6; arguments against, 92; assessing net effect of, 101–2; CIA, 95, 107–8; counterterrorism effectiveness of, 92; for Directorate of Operations, 129; for DO, 130–31; Goldwater-Nichols Act impact on, 66–68; legislative activity for, 84, 100–102; questions of implementation for, 101; reductionist focus of, 91; vision of, 100–102
Index

analysis, all-source, 95; centralized, 56; competitive, 96; competitive v. consensus, 57; gap between expectations and performance of, 61–62; imaginative analytical effort of, 60; intelligence and, 69; of intelligence collection, 68–69; Intelligence Reform and Terrorism Prevention Act impact on, 62; Kent alternative of, 57–58; Kent model’s shortcomings for, 61–62; 9/11 Commission on, 64; policy makers’ influence on, 44, 46–47, 56–57; of al Qaeda, 34; science and technology contributions to, 145; social science positivism in, 45–46; trends in, 43–44

armed groups, alliances between, 16; American intelligence culture preparation for, 30–36; American intelligence implications from, 36–39; American security interests impacted by, xv; asymmetrical attacks by, 27–29; categorization of, 8–22; in Central Asian states, 7–8; challenges to United States by, 2; CIA response to, 30; of criminal organizations, 21–24; current trends in, 36–37; direct and indirect impact of, 27–29; drug trafficking by, 23–24; fragmentation and failing states with, 5–8; globalization of, 25–27; government corruption by, 7, 22; information technology used by, xv, 3, 10, 25–27; insurgents in, 11–14; integration and fragmentation of, 4; Kennedy administration policies toward, 30–32; in lawless/ungoverned territory, 7–8; of militias, 10; network-based organizations of, 25–27; objectives and strategies of, 9, 12; post–cold war security and evolution of, 2–8; Reagan administration policy toward, 32–34; taxonomy of, 9–11; threat of, xv; trends and implications of, 37–38; types of, xv asymmetrical threats and attacks, definition, 28; al Qaeda’s use of, 28; state’s policies toward, 27–29

Baer, Robert, CIA and, 116–17
Berkowitz, Bruce, 169 bin Laden, Osama, American intelligence on, xviii, 128; failed strategic assessment of, 42–43; globalization influence on, 26–27; NIE on, 42–43
British intelligence system, American intelligence system v., 58n22
Bush, George W., American intelligence size increased by, 137; CIA bureaucracy reform under, 138; Tenet services retained by, 128 business, government and technology sectors in, 169; intelligence relationships with, 165

Casey, William, CIA history of, 133–34; CIA performance under, 137

Central Intelligence Agency. See CIA
China, 4n3, 105
Church Committee, 43n6
CIA (Central Intelligence Agency),
  all-source analysis by, 95;
  analytic community influenced by, 63; armed groups’ response to, 30–36; Baer and, 116–17;
  British intelligence system v., 58n22; budget and performance of, 107n2; Casey history in,
  133–34; against change, 128–
  29; critical oversight of, 106;
  criticism of, 108; Cuba fiasco
  by, 138; Directorate of Operations success for, 32–34;
  DNI relation to, 79, 86, 93–94; Executive Branch and congressional objectives for,
  136; Executive Branch relations with, 71–74; FBI relation to, 70;
  funding and politics of, 107;
  Hussein WMD programs
  assessments by, 128;
  independence from policy
  making of, 46–48; In-Q-Tel success of, 168; intelligence-report reviewers of, 130;
  interagency coordination and,
  90; Iran and, 104–5; Islamic radical group penetration by, 136; leaks to media by, 127;
  NIE production by, 96–97; NSC
  and DCl coordination with, 69;
  officer qualifications for, 132;
  operational history of, 103–5;
  paramilitary personnel in, 127–
  28; politics’ influence on, 108, 125; production audits of, 126;
  recruiting success of, 103–5, 120–21; recruitment audits of,
  126; reforms of, 95, 107–8;
  requirements of, 155; Senate Intelligence Committee impact on, 59, 107–8; shortcomings on al Qaeda by, 60; standards for achievements for, 136–37; STEP program of, 170; Tenet and, 107n2; training and mobilization of local forces by,
  31; Woolsey and, 108
CIA Mission Requirements Board.
  See MRB
Clinton, William F. See American
  intelligence community cold war, agent recruiting during,
  117–18; armed groups after, 2– 8; intelligence capabilities
  during, 139; pace of intelligence
  during, 75; security after, 2–8;
  threats to intelligence community during, 74–76
Commission on the Intelligence
  Capabilities of the United States
  Regarding Weapons of Mass Destruction, results of, xiv;
  Silberman report of, 124–25
communication technology, 76–77, 169
Congress, CIA objectives from, 136;
  intelligence oversight by, 105
Congressional Joint Inquiry, DCl
  and, 93
corruption, 22; armed groups’
  cause of, 7; authority of state undermined by, 6–7
counterintelligence, Chinese penetration of, 105; technology support of, 148
counterterrorism, evaluating effectiveness of, 81–82;
  Executive Branch–wide planning of, 81–83; improvements needed for, 91; intelligence agent recruiting for, 122; intelligence reform impact on, 92; NSC operations for, 82; paramilitary operations v., 128; tasks of, 81;
  U.S. capabilities for, 65. See also National Counterterrorism Center
Index

Counterterrorism Center, 104
Counterterrorist Center (CTC), effectiveness of, 78; purpose
and history of, 33–34
criminal armed group, 21–24
criminal organizations, 21–24
Crocker, Chester, 6–7
CTC. See Counterterrorist Center
Cuba, counterespionage on, 138

DCI (Director of Central Intelligence), acquisition authority of, 168; authority of,
73, 74, 92; budgets of, 71–73;
conflicts of interest of, xvii, 74,
95; Executive Branch influence on, 74; institutional weakness of, 70–74, 93; origin of, 69–70

Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency’s Total
Information Awareness. See
Terrorism Information
Awareness
Defense Intelligence Agency, NIE
input by, 96–97; purpose of, 69
Department of Defense. See DoD Department of Defense Joint Requirements and Operations
Council. See JROC
Department of Homeland Security,
intelligence requirements of,
155; interagency coordination
in, 90
Director of Central Intelligence. See
DCI
Director of National Intelligence. See
DNI
Director of Operations. See DO Directorate of Intelligence, insurgency as a security issue for, 31–32; National Counterterrorism Center’s
purpose for, 89
Directorate of Operations, armed groups policies of, 32–35; CIA policy changes impact on, 32–34;
effectiveness and
performance of, 103–5, 132–33;
recruiting exaggeration and fraud in, 121; recruiting practices of, 117; reform of, 129; support and management structure problems of, 133

Directorate of Strategic Operational Planning, 89 DNI (Director of National Intelligence), authority of, 94,
100; budgets of, 80–81, 86–87;
challenges for, xix; CIA relations to, 79, 86, 93–94; community affairs of, 79; competitive
analysis impact on, 96;
Executive Branch support for,
100; function of, 62–66, 79–80, 94–96, 100–1; funds and personnel transfers by, 87–88;
hiring authority of, 88;
Intelligence Reform Act impact on, xvii; military operations influenced by, 97; mission-oriented centers and, 79–80;
National Intelligence Center relation to, 88, 94–95; Office of Management and Budget impact on, 87; organization of, 89;
origin and purpose of, xvi-xvii;
performance of, 80;
shortcomings of, 64–65;
technical intelligence
management by, 155

DO (Director of Operations), budget and performance of, 107n2;
intelligence culture of, 130–31;
NOCs use by, 133–35; personnel types in, 131; reduction in size of, 131; reform of, 130–31
DoD (Department of Defense),
intelligence requirements of,
155; National Intelligence
DoD (continued)
  Center’s model of, 80; organizational structure of, 67
drug trafficking, 23–24
emerging technologies, potential importance of, 148–50; types of, 148–49 espionage operations, 128
Executive Branch, CIA objectives affected by, 136; CIA relations with, 71–74; counterterrorism planning by, 81–83; DCI influenced by, 74; DNI support by, 100; National Counterterrorism Center relation to, 90, 102
FBI (Federal Bureau of Investigation), CIA relation to, 70; intelligence community relation to, 70; interagency coordination with, 90; 9/11 Commission impact on, 124
FE. See foreign agents
Federal Bureau of Investigation. See FBI foreign agents, 103–4
foreign intelligence, 105
fragmentation, failed states caused by, xv; failing states and, 5–7; integration and, 4
Gates, Robert, 53n19
GEOINT (geospatial intelligence), changing technologies of, 153; intelligence collection with, 146 goospatial intelligence. See GEOINT globalization, armed groups influenced by, 2; failed states caused by, xv; bin Laden affected by, 26–27; nation-state affected by, 25; al Qaeda affected by, 26–27; U.S. threatened by, 76–77
Goldwater-Nichols Act, DoD impact of, 66–68; intelligence reform from, 66–68; purpose of, 67–67
Goldwater-Nichols Department of Defense Reorganization Act. See Goldwater-Nichols Act
Goss, Porter, CIA bureaucracy reform under, 138; CIA recruiting under, 121–22
human intelligence collection. See HUMINT
Human Intelligence Directorate, 131n9
Human Rights Watch, 18
HUMINT (human intelligence), quality and effectiveness of, 106–7; technical intelligence at expense of, 109; technology challenges for, 144
Hussein, Saddam, 128
imagery intelligence. See IMINT IMINT (imagery intelligence), 139
indications and warning (I&W), 54 information technology, armed groups’ use of, xv, 3, 10, 25–27; changes for American intelligence community from, 166
information, transparency of, 142
In-Q-Tel, CIA creation of, 168
insurgency, definition and classic model of, 11; ethnic and religious, 13; indicators of, 13–14; as a security issue for DNI, 31–32; terrorist groups v., 14–15 integration, DoD methods of, 67–68; of foreign and domestic intelligence, 76; fragmentation and, 4; Goldwater-Nichols Act and, 67–68; military operations affected by, 67–68 intelligence. See American
Index

intelligence; American intelligence community intelligence collection, adversaries' programs of, 157, 161
Intelligence Reform Act, centralization of intelligence from, xvi; DNI creation by, xvii Intelligence Reform and Terrorism Prevention Act, creation of, 83–84; creation of DNI by, 164; history of, 83–91; intelligence analysis impact of, 62; legislative background of, 84–91; legislative provisions of, 86–88; 9/11 Commission influence on, xiv; purpose of, 66; science and technology focus of, 140 intelligence technology, 152–53
intelligence-report reviewers, 130
interagency coordination, 90
Iran, CIA agent role in, 138; CIA performance in, 104–5
Iraq, intelligence agent recruiting for, 120; intelligence on, 152; U.S. policies and commitments to, 1
Islamic radical groups, NOC penetration of, 134; types of, 136
Islamic terrorism threat, intelligence agent recruiting for, 123; Tenet verification of, 132
I&W. See indications and warning
Joint Chiefs of Staff, purpose of, 67
JROC (Department of Defense Joint Requirements and Operations Council), intelligence planning review by, 162
Kennedy, John F., 30–32
Kent model, 58
Kent, Sherman, on alternative analysis, 57–58; on intelligence and policy, 51n18; Soviet estimates by, 50; Strategic

Intelligence for American World Policy (1949), 44–45 lawless/ungoverned territory, armed groups in, 7–8 MASINT (signature intelligence), 139
military services, DNI impact on, 97; integration influence on, 67–68; intelligence reform consequences for, 98 militias, in Afghanistan, 18–19; armed groups of, 17; civil war between, 19; definition of, 16–17; differences between, 17–19; leadership of, 19; violence used by, 17–18
MRB (CIA Mission Requirements Board), 162
multi-Int, definition of, 147
National Commission on Terrorist Attacks, creation of, xiii; recommendations of, 65–66
National Counterterrorism Center, authority of, 90; budget influence of, 83; creation and purpose of, xvi–xvii; DNI impact on, 90; Executive Branch's relation to, 90, 102; operational planning by, 99; purpose of, 65–66, 82–83, 89–90
National Geospatial Agency. See NGA
National Intelligence Center, all-source analysis by, 95; DNI reliance on, 94–95; DoD model for, 80; purpose of, 80, 101 national intelligence estimates. See NIE
National Reconnaissance Office. See NRO
National Security Act of 1947, DCI impact of, 69; NSC impact of, 69
National Security Action
Memorandum 124, operational training mandated by, 30–31
National Security Agency. See NSA
National Security Council. See NSC
National Security Strategy of the United States, 9
Negroponte, John, 100
NGA (National Geospatial Agency), purpose of, 69; technology management by, 155
NIE (national intelligence estimates), on bin Laden, 42–43; DoD Defense Intelligence Agency contribution toward, 96–97; formulation of, 55–66; participants in, 97; policy makers’ influence on, 55–56; on al Qaeda, 42–43, 60–61; State Department contribution toward, 96–97
9/11, changes since, 98–99; intelligence community before, 68–70; weaknesses highlighted by, 65
9/11 Commission, failure of, 124, 129; National Counterterrorism Center recommendation for, 82–83; objections to, 91–100; recommendations of, xiii–xiv, 35, 41–43, 79; report of, xiii; science and technology considerations of, 140
NOC (nonofficial cover officer), advantages of, xviii; appeal of, 135; CIA use of, 129; Islamic radical organizations penetration by, 134; organization of, 134; proposed salaries of, 135; qualifications for, 135 nonofficial cover officer. See NOC
NRO (National Reconnaissance Office), Innovation Initiative of, 170; purpose of, 69; technology management by, 155
NSA (National Security Agency), DoD origins of, 69; military reliance on, 97; purpose of, 69; technology management by, 155
NSC (National Security Council), counterterrorism operations influence on, 82; origin of, 69
Office of Management and Budget, DNI relation to, 87
paramilitary operations, counterterrorism v., 128; success of, 128
PCN. See political criminal nexus policy makers, analysts' relations with, 51–52; competitive analysis for, 56; deliberation incentives for, 55; information specialists’ influence on, 52–53; intelligence community relations with, 54, 58–59; objective analysis for, 56; opportunities for, 55; U.S. behavior influence on, 58 policy making, goal of, xvi; intelligence contrasted with, xvi political criminal nexus (PCN), armed groups in, 24; security problems created by, 29 post–cold war security, 2–8
Privacy and Civil Liberties
Oversight Board, origins of, 84–86
al Qaeda, analysis of, 34; asymmetrical attacks by, 28; CIA assets in, 60; clandestine service on, 128; failed strategic assessment of, 42–43, 60–61; globalization impact on, 26–27; intelligence agent recruiting from, 123; intelligence production on, 132; NIEs on,
Index

42–43, 60–61; Tenet war memorandum on, 78–79, 92; U.S. policy toward, 1
RAND–St Andrews index, 15
Reagan presidency, CIA performance during, 137
Reagan, Ronald, 32–34

Relationship and Comparative Advantages of Government and Commercial Technology Sectors, 169chart
Robb-Silberman report, CIA reform recommended by, 131n9; clandestine service recommendations of, 137n13; Human Intelligence Directorate recommendation of, 131n9
Rosenau, James, 3
Rotberg, Robert, 5
rule of law, armed groups’ influence on, 10; ungoverned areas’ impact on, 29 safe havens, terrorist groups in, 7
science and technology, advantages for American intelligence of, xviii–xix; agent recruitment with, 139–40, 146–46, 155–72; challenges for U.S. intelligence of, 145–46, 154; contribution to analysis of, 145; expectations for, 140; information overload challenge of, 140; intelligence community attention to, 140n2; intelligence transformation through, 145; long-term American intelligence impact of, 172–74; management challenges of, 141, 155–72; success of, 141; transparency of, 145
Senate Intelligence Committee, CIA analysis impact of, 59; CIA reform efforts by, 107–8 SIGMIT (signals intelligence), challenge of changing technologies for, 153; technical intelligence impetus of, 139 signals intelligence. See SIGMIT signature intelligence. See MASINT Silberman Report, 124
social science positivism, 49
Soviet Union, intelligence community affected by, 74–76; perception of U.S. resolve toward, 57–58; terrorist groups supported by, 48n12
State Department, bureaucratic malaise of, 133; intelligence agent recruiting cover of, 118–19 states, economic integration of, 4n3; fragmentation and failing, xv, 4–7; globalization impact on, 25

TECHINT (technical intelligence), challenges to capabilities of, 156–58; challenges to the development of, 161; combinations of intelligence gathering through, 146–47; commercial technologies for, 143–44; cost of, 162; deception of, 143; intelligence planning for, 162; investment in, 159; JROC planning review of, 162; link to consumer intelligence of, 162–63; priorities, needs, and requirements of system planning for, 162–63 technology, collaboration resulting from, 149; collection-centric nature of, 150; counterintelligence supported by, 148; data analysis with, 149; effectiveness of U.S. intelligence through, 147–48; government and industry comparative advantages regarding, 169–70; horizontal technology (continued)
integration of, 150; imbalances and weaknesses of, 150–54; intelligence collection and analysis value of, 117, 148; NGA management of, 155; NRO, 155; NSA management of, 155; space and sensor impact on, 148–49; support of counterintelligence by, 148. See also communication technology; emerging technology; information technology; science and technology; TECHINT technology intelligence. See TECHINT

Tenet, George, CIA budget under, 107n2; CIA recruiting under, 121–22; effectiveness of, 92–93; Islamic terrorist threat verification of, 132; media influenced by, 128; al Qaeda memorandum of war by, 78–79, 92 terrorism, by armed groups, 15; challenges posed by, xvii; definition of, 14–15; detection of, 16; insurgents and, 14–15; as a judicial/law enforcement matter, 33; safe havens for, 7; Soviet Union support for, 48n12. See also counterterrorism; National Counterterrorism Center Terrorism Information Awareness, intelligence and data gathering by, 144; social and economic implications of, 144

Terrorist Threat Integration Center, shortcomings of, 99

U.S. intelligence. See American intelligence warning. See indications and warning

Woolsey, James, CIA reform efforts of, 108, 126