

HOOVER INSTITUTION SPECIAL SEMINAR

Friday, August 12, 2011

10 AM

Room 330, Herbert Hoover Memorial Building

Gabriela Tarazona-Sevillano

Visiting Fellow, Hoover Institution

will speak on

Can Heads of State be held legally responsible for counter-terrorist actions?

Gabriela Tarazona-Sevillano, a former criminal affairs prosecuting attorney in Peru, has taught for many years in the United States. She is author of Sendero Luminoso and The Threat of Narcoterrorism and has recently returned from Peru where she conducted research on the trial of former Peruvian President Alberto Fujimori (1990-2001).